Founded as the Detroit Shock: The team was originally established as the Detroit Shock in 1998, becoming one of the league's early successful franchises. During their

Detroit years, the Shock claimed three WNBA championships (2003, 2006, 2008) before relocating to Tulsa, Oklahoma, in 2010 and later to Dallas in 2016, rebranding as the Dallas Wings.

New Leadership Under Latricia Trammell: In 2023, Latricia

Trammell became head coach, bringing a fresh strategy to the Wings' game, focused on defense and consistency. Trammell's leadership has been instrumental in guiding the Wings to consecutive playoff appearances.

Home Court at College Park Center: The Wings play at College Park Center on the University of Texas at Arlington campus.

WINGS

Arike Ogunbowale's Scoring Prowess: Since joining the team as a top draft pick in 2019, Ogunbowale has led the Wings in scoring nearly every season. She earned All-WNBA honors in 2024 and became the franchise's all-time leading scorer, further establishing her as one of the league's premier offensive threats.

Dynamic Duo: Satou Sabally and Ogunbowale: Satou Sabally, drafted in 2020, has developed alongside Ogunbowale, creating a powerful duo.
