First Stanley Cup in 2019: After 52 years in the NHL, the Blues captured their first Stanley Cup in 2019, defeating the Boston Bruins in a seven-game series. The championship run was led by captain Alex Pietrangelo and Conn Smythe Trophy winner Ryan O'Reilly.

Brett Hull's Scoring Legacy: Brett Hull is arguably the greatest player in Blues history, scoring 527 goals during his time in St. Louis. He is best known for his booming slapshot and his 86-goal season in 1990-91, one of the highest single-season totals in NHL history.
