and powerful nature. The name also connects to the energy and noise inspiration from the mythical sirens of legend, known for their alluring of New York City itself—often called "the city that never sleeps." Urban and Mythical Inspiration: The New York Sirens draw

Playing at Prudential Center: The Sirens call the Prudential Center in Newark, New Jersey, their home, bringing top-tier women's hockey to the metropolitan area and further enhancing New York's status as a major sports hub.
