Dear Hiring Team,

I'm writing to express my strong interest in the Software Quality Assurance Analyst position at Four Eyes Financial. As someone with a deep appreciation for reliable systems and a keen eye for functionality and detail, I'm eager to support your team in delivering quality-driven software experiences through your Intelligent Compliance Platform.

In my previous role as a systems developer and process analyst at BWS Manufacturing, I independently led projects from design through deployment, often building internal tools used daily by non-technical staff. This experience sharpened my skills in gathering requirements, translating them into technical solutions, and proactively testing for usability and reliability. I understand how crucial QA is not just in catching defects—but in enabling better products and stronger trust with clients.

I'm particularly drawn to Four Eyes' mission of transforming compliance in the Wealth Management space. While my background stems from a manufacturing environment, the principles of data integrity, usability, and continuous improvement remain consistent across industries. I'm excited by the challenge of learning a new domain, and confident that my foundation in building and maintaining data-driven applications—with an emphasis on end-user quality—aligns well with the objectives of this role.

I bring strong analytical thinking, disciplined documentation habits, and a user-first mindset to my work. I also thrive in fast-paced, collaborative teams and have experience adapting to agile processes. Based in New Brunswick, I'm pleased to see the opportunity offers hybrid flexibility while remaining locally rooted.

Thank you for considering my application. I'd welcome the chance to learn more about your QA goals and share how I can contribute to your team's success.

Sincerely
Avery Briggs
