Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my interest in the General Manager position in Perth-Andover.

While my professional background has primarily been in information technology, business systems, and operational support rather than automotive retail, I believe my experience leading initiatives, improving processes, supporting business operations, and working with inventory and reporting systems has prepared me well for a management role focused on team success, customer service, and operational excellence.

Throughout my career, I have worked closely with purchasing, inventory, production, and customer-facing departments to solve problems, improve efficiency, and support day-to-day business operations. I have developed reporting solutions, managed business-critical systems, analyzed operational data, and worked directly with users to identify issues and implement practical solutions. These experiences strengthened my ability to communicate effectively, train and support others, prioritize competing demands, and remain focused on achieving organizational goals.

One of my greatest strengths is my ability to learn new industries and systems quickly. While I do not come from an automotive parts background, I have consistently demonstrated the ability to master unfamiliar technologies, business processes, and technical environments. I am confident I can apply that same adaptability to learning automotive systems, parts sourcing, store operations, and customer programs while contributing immediately through my organizational, analytical, and leadership abilities.

I am particularly interested in this opportunity because it combines customer service, operational management, inventory oversight, team development, and business performance. I enjoy roles that require both strategic thinking and hands-on involvement, and I would welcome the opportunity to help lead a store environment that emphasizes accountability, customer satisfaction, and long-term growth.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my experience, work ethic, and willingness to learn can contribute to the continued success of your team.

Sincerely,
Avery Briggs
