Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Technical Support position in Woodstock, NB. With several years of experience supporting business systems, users, and operational technology within a manufacturing environment, I believe I would be a strong fit for your team.

In my previous role at BWS Manufacturing, I worked closely with employees across multiple departments to troubleshoot technical issues, support ERP and reporting systems, configure equipment, and improve day-to-day operational processes. My responsibilities included assisting users with software and hardware problems, maintaining reporting systems, supporting database operations, coordinating with external IT providers, and helping implement practical technical solutions for business users.

I am comfortable working in fast-paced environments where priorities can shift quickly, and I take pride in being dependable, organized, and approachable when assisting users with technical difficulties. I enjoy practical troubleshooting work and working directly with users to resolve technical issues efficiently. Alongside my systems and troubleshooting experience, I also understand the operational side of business environments and work well with both technical and non-technical staff.

I am legally authorized to work in Canada and would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background and technical support experience could contribute to your organization. I am open to commuting or relocation for the right opportunity.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,
Avery Briggs
